WORLD PRINT COUNCIL OPENS NEW GALLERY OCTOBER 2

In keeping with the international flavor of Fort Mason Center, long-time resident group World Print Council/Gallery presents ten exhibitions from around the globe each year. It has long been the desire of Fort Mason Center to provide the Gallery with an easily accessible location worthy of these exhibitions. When the ground floor space formerly occupied by Meyer, Breier, Weiss was vacated, that became possible. Therefore, the Gallery and Fort Mason Center are happy to announce the christening of World Print's new location, as well as the opening of a special new show.

Moving to the new quarters in Building A will not only furnish a more accessible location for art aficionados, but will provide spacious bi-level surroundings for the Gallery's staff to work in and produce shows. The opening reception begins at 6pm on October 2, and the public is invited to attend. The show, New Impressions: Recent Work by Bay Area Artists, runs Tuesday through Saturday from 11am to 6pm through November 2. Surveying a broad range of print media, the exhibit also represents the activities of many Bay Area presses and publishers.

In conjunction with the opening of the new facility, World Print Council now plans further expansion of programs and benefits to members. For the first time, prints will be available for ongoing viewing and sale; additionally, expansion and updating of the Slide Referral Service is on the agenda. This Slide Referral Service provides the Gallery with material for upcoming exhibits and information for curating shows.

Available to anyone interested in contemporary prints, membership in the World Print Council provides important support for the Council's programs. Benefits include:

- Print News, the Council's bimonthly magazine, for one year
- discounts on books, catalogs, and subscriptions to art magazines
- reduced admission to conferences
- access to the Slide Referral Service
- preferential consideration for World Print Gallery exhibitions
- mailings on World Print exhibitions and shows

The remainder of the fall schedule, still in the works, will pursue the Council's goals of providing opportunities for artists and increasing the audience for modern prints. Look for listings in the Fort Mason Center Calendar. For further information about World Print Council/Gallery, please call 776-9200.

FORT MASON CENTER UPDATE

Fall Antiques Show 1984 Lecture Series
This year's Antiques Show lecture series, sponsored by Sotheby's, features Clement Conger, an authority on the White House and Department of State Collections. Thierry Millerand, Senior Vice President of Sotheby's will speak on the Wrightsman Collection Sale. Panel discussions on "Decorating with Antiques," "Collecting," and "Restoration and Conservancy" will be led by Samual Wagstaff, Howard Hein and Donald Stover. Eugene Kupjack, "master of miniatures," will speak on handcrafted miniature reproduction. All lectures are $15. The Antiques show features a preview October 30, $75. See October 31 calendar listing for details or call 921-1411.

S.F. CHILDREN'S FAIR RETURNS TO FORT MASON

The coming of Halloween and one of Fort Mason Center's most popular events, the San Francisco Children's Fair, give Bay Area children a two-fold celebration to look forward to this October. The Children's Fair, a city-wide celebration for kids, returns to Pier 2 on October 27 and 28.

Hands-on exhibits, performing artists, a crafts sale, refreshments and much more, provide an entertaining and educational backdrop for this year's pre-Halloween festivities. Children may try out their trick or treat finery during the costume parade held on each day of the Fair.

Other bewitching delights for kids include the Land of the Giants play area, a slippery slide, magical exhibits from the Exploratorium, and an art room where children can have their face painted, decorate a pumpkin or make a mask. The Zoomobile again supplies animals to play with, while the Police Athletic League furnishes motorized tricycles for the racing enthusiasts in the crowd.

Entertainment includes many types of music, singing, slack-rope walking, juggling and other surprises. Toys and other objects of interest to children will be available for sale at the crafts fair each day.

AMATA TO ENTERTAIN

The members of the Academy of Media and Theatre Arts, one of Fort Mason Center's resident groups, plan once again to lend their talents to the Fair's entertainment schedule.

AMATA teaches acting, radio and video techniques to children between the ages of 7 and 19, and is currently enjoying a fifth successful season at Fort Mason. This year, in addition to showcasing videos by young filmmakers, AMATA will be on hand with a live video camera, allowing kids the opportunity to see themselves on television.

The SF Children's Fair runs from 10am to 5pm each day. Admission is $4/adults and $2/children under 12. Free parking and shuttle bus service will be available from Crissy Field.

MACY'S ANNUAL MEN'S FASHION SHOW AT FORT MASON PIER TWO

Passport, the second annual men's fashion show and reception to be presented by Macy's will be held at Fort Mason Center, Pier 3, on October 2 at 6:30pm. The event, held for the first time at Fort Mason last year, drew capacity crowds, including fashion executives, designers, and members of the press.

More than a fashion show, this spectacular event is embellished with a computerized multi-image presentation of sound, light, and music and features the fashion visionaries who dominate the world of men's fashion. The show will have an international theme "Passport" with clothes from Italy, France, Japan and the U.S. Among the designers chosen are Claude Montana, Jean Paul Gaultier, Giorgio Armani, Cerruti, Mitsuhiro Matsuda, Yohji Yamamoto, Issey Miyake, Perry Ellis, and scores of others.

Tickets are available to the public through the Bass Ticket Center for $12.50 or at the door for $15.00. Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served.

CHILI COOK-OFF TO BENEFIT FORT MASON

For most people October means falling leaves, the World Series and Halloween. But for those with a healthy appetite for fun, not to mention chili, October can only mean one thing: the Fifth annual San Francisco Firefighters' Chili Cook-Off in Fort Mason Center's Pier 3.

On October 7 the aroma of chili will once again waft out over the Bay as notables such as Fire Chief Emmett Condon, several members of the International Chili Society and our own Marc Kasky judge 40 different chili entries.

More than just a treat for the tastebuds, the Cook-Off also features live musical entertainment provided by John Gallagher's Band; and visual entertainment provided by the firefighters as they struggle to outdo each other in the decoration of their booths. Alternative refreshments are provided for the less daring.

This year's Chili Cook-Off is a special one for Fort Mason Center as half of the proceeds will be donated to the Fort Mason Foundation. The other half will go to the Kevin Collins Action Fund for missing children.

The Firefighters' Chili Cook-Off will take place from 10:30am to 5:30pm. Tickets available for $5 may be purchased at the door. A word of caution: antacids will not be for sale, so we suggest you bring your own.
